Leipzig 2024

Dear reviewer!

Every year, Studium in Israel e.V. offers students of theology and relevant other subjects the opportunity to spend a year of study at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. Thereby they gain deep insights into Jewish theology and history, into the social reality in Israel (and Palestine) and, last but not least, into Christian-Jewish relations.

The selected students will be enabled in advance to participate in courses through high-quality language courses in Modern Hebrew and will be supported by the assumption of tuition fees as well as an extensive accompanying theological program. In the selection process, in addition to the linguistic ability of the applicants, special consideration is given to their motivation as well as their theological qualifications for the topics relevant in Jerusalem and their political sensitivity.

Through your willingness to provide an expert opinion, you will play a significant role in the selection process. You will greatly support our efforts if you speak in detail with the applicants and provide us with a realistic and meaningful assessment of their interest in the content of the academic year, their previous academic achievements and their expected commitment, their intercultural flexibility and familiarity with questions of Christian-Jewish encounter, as well as their social and communicative competence.

Please bundle your observations and assessments by one of the following predicates:

Unsuitable / With Concern / Without Concern / With Recommendation / With Emphasis.

Please send your assessment in a sealed envelope about the applicant.
For your efforts, the Working Group "Study in Israel" thanks you warmly
